

Celebrating the spirit of volunteerism! 2015 HONOREES

SOUTHWEST AIRLINES Starting with one group of Southwest Airlines employees seven years ago, participation has grown to three groups of volunteers. Their quarterly commitment has resulted in a knowledge of pantry operations and seasonal programs, such as Sack Summer Hunger, along with an unsurpassed level of productivity. They are truly a "hometown carrier that cares" and local families are better for it.

JEANNE SAWYER Back in 1990, Farmers Branch resident Jeanne became a volunteer by delivering meals to area seniors. Currently, she assists staff by calling drivers regarding their schedules. Jeanne has an impressive twenty-five year record of community service that has also benefited other local agencies, her neighborhood senior center, church, and civic service clubs.

YOUNG MEN'S SERVICE LEAGUE Lone Star Chapter For five years this Addison mother and son group has supported our food pantry by restocking supplies and assisting families, participated in holiday toy and food distributions, and packed Sack Summer Hunger supplies. During 2014 and 2015 they worked over 418 hours in service to our community.

THE BRANCH CHURCH This active Church of Christ congregation in Farmers Branch supports area seniors by working through our home repair program. As valued Sack Summer Hunger partners, they are the only church electing to expand the established summer food delivery program to include spring break and winter holidays.

CHRISTUS ST JOSEPH'S VILLAGE Since 2004 residents at this Coppell retirement community, including Charlie Meyer, Eleanor Zepeda, and Bud Butterfield, have maintained a six-day-a-week schedule picking up bread donations from an area grocery store and delivering to our pantry. In addition, the village host annual collection drives for school supplies and holiday toys to benefit families at PETE'S CAFE It's known as a great eat spot in Farmers Branch, but for twelve years owners Judy Lamb and Rodney Lamb have partnered with us by cooking and packaging low cost hot dinners on weekdays for our home-delivered senior meals program. They're committed to supporting our mission of service to area residents.

JOHN ESSMAN In 1992, John started sharing his retirement years by volunteering at Metrocrest Services. During his weekly pantry shifts, he assists clients and provides operational support. Previously, he also served by delivering meals to senior clients. John's volunteerism extends beyond Metrocrest Services to include helping at other sites including KERA television station.
