

Metrocrest Services spearheaded the effort to count the unsheltered homeless in Carrollton, Farmers Branch, Addison, Coppell, and a portion of Dallas (in Denton County). Metrocrest Services will utilize this information to develop housing initiatives.

Homelessness is defined by Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as living outdoors or in a place not intended for human habitation, such as a car.

Thank you to the amazing volunteers and staff members who participated in this year's Point in Time count.

Housing Insecurity

In addition to the unsheltered count reported to HUD, it is critical to identify those in our community who are housing insecure. This includes those living long-term in area motels as well as school-aged children who are precariously housed (living in motels, doubling up with family or friends, or living in a shelter).
