ADJOURN

THE HISTORY

In 2005 Metrocrest Services (then Metrocrest Social Services) launched the annual Keyholder Breakfast. The name pays homage to the original Metrocrest Services' logo, which featured a key and the tagline, "the key to preventing homelessness."

The Key to Preventing Homelessness

Keyholder
BREAKFAST

As Metrocrest Services' continues to grow and develop in the community, the Keyholder Breakfast reminds us of our roots, and it allows us all to remember that community support is KEY to creating a thriving community for all.

YOUR IMPACT

3,491,456 meals provided

4,959 people received rent or utility assistance

Meet the Experts

Local experts discuss the factors that contribute to the well-being and quality of life of individuals and communities during this morning's panel discussion.

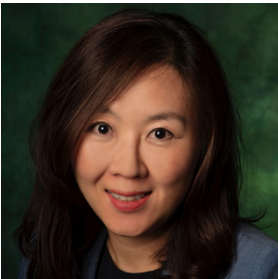

Justin Bashaw, Panelist

Justin Bashaw, design director, studio director and senior associate with Gensler. An ardent advocate for good design, Bashaw is a skilled designer in base building architecture and adaptive reuse. Dedicated to shaping the world, his work focuses on improving the human experience with projects that are highly contextual to the site, the local ecology and communities they impact. Some of Bashaw's recent projects include: The City of Farmers Branch Manske Library, City of Frisco Public Library, Boys & Girls Club of Greater Dallas East Dallas Club, Toyota Music Factory, Dallas Cowboys World Headquarters at The Star, and, most importantly, the new home for Metrocrest Services.

Hee Soun Jang, Panelist

Hee Soun Jang, Ph.D., associate professor of public administration at The University of North Texas. Dr. Jang's primary research focus is cross-sector collaboration and the role of non-profit organizations in the public sector. Her research advances knowledge about the role of non-profits in public service and, resource development that can improve organizational effectiveness and public service delivery. Dr. Jang is co-author of the book Public-Nonprofit Collaboration and Policy in Homeless Services, published in 2022. Her research has been funded by Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, IBM Center for the Business of Government and Dallas Area Habitat for Humanity. She has served the Denton County Homeless Service Leadership Team as a board member.

Joseph W. Dingman, Panelist

Joseph W. Dingman, MBA, CPA, financial executive and community innovator. Dingman is a financial executive with more than 40 years of experience in commercial real estate investment management, mostly with his own firm serving German clientele. In 1991, Dingman co-founded the Catholic Housing Initiative (CHI) which currently has more than 1,100 units of affordable rental housing in Dallas area, with other projects in development. He is particularly proud of the two St. Jude Centers which offer apartments paired with intensive casework to formerly homeless individuals. He was the Catholic Foundation's 2020 honoree for his contribution to affordable housing in Dallas, and has been active in local policy formation as a citizen and as an appointed member of several public boards. A resident of Farmers Branch, Dingman and his wife, Carol, have two financially and emotionally independent adult daughters in leadership positions who taught him to listen to women and value their points of view.

Tracy Eubanks, Moderator

Tracy Eubanks, CEO at Metrocrest Services. For 10 years, Eubanks has led the nonprofit organization in its mission to provide hope through programs that foster independence and lead to self-sufficiency. A long-time Carrollton resident, Eubanks is passionate about helping ensure all Metrocrest residents have access to the resources they need to thrive. During his tenure at Metrocrest Services, Eubanks successfully guided the agency through the unprecedented demand for services seen during the COVID-19 pandemic and, is an integral part of the Building Our Future Capital Campaign to create a permanent home for the agency and the newest gathering space for the community.
